

Health Care Song

D

*Tune: 'Oh Dear, What Can the Matter Be?' (also 'Johnny's So Long at the Fair'); 1.5 min.
Lyrics: by Corinne Willinger NYC Metro Raging Grannies, adapted by The Raging Grannies ... and Their Friends of Westchester County NY*

Oh dear, what can the matter be?
We all need health care with coverage for you and me.
We should be charged an affordable health care fee.
Why don't we have it right now?

Adults and children want health care for everyone.
Millions of people who need it find they have none.
One little illness can make families come undone.
Why don't we have it right now?

Medical care costs are climbing up to the sky. [CLIMB HAND]
Insurance companies' charges can make you cry. [WIPE TEAR]
If you don't pay them their service they will deny.
Why don't we have it right now?

Seniors get healthcare through government Medicare.
Who passed a law to pay drug costs that's so unfair?
We get in debt while they make profits everywhere.
Where can we buy our drugs now?

Oh dear, what can the matter be?
We all need health care with coverage for you and me.
We should be charged an affordable health care fee.
Why don't we have it right now?
