

Treat Us the Same

low G

*Tune: 'Daring Young Man On the Flying Trapeze'; 1.5 min.
Lyrics: adapted by Calgary Raging Grannies*

I'm red and you're white and he's black and she's brown
That only depends on the sun shining down.
We've got to remember in this human game
Our skin may be different – our worth is the same!

I run like a deer and you sing like a lark.
He swims like a fish and she sees in the dark.
We've got to remember in this human game
Our skills may be different – our value the same!

I always eat fish and you always eat meat.
He always eats rice and she always eats wheat.
We've got to remember in this human game
Our food may be different – but it's good all the same!

I am a Christian and you are a Jew.
He is a Muslim and she is Hindu.
We've got to remember in this human game
Religions are different but love is the same!

My parents are French and your parents are Greek.
His parents are Chinese, her parents are Sikh.
We've got to remember in this world wide game
Diversity's valued – SO TREAT US THE SAME!
